Show and Tell

Dan Pugliese

Child's hand cart made from a kit which comes with the wheels, axels and iron seat/handle. You can use any kind of wood you like and make it larger or smaller depending on your needs.

John Deputy

Just back from Afganistan....brought a flag case made with no power tools that included brass inlays of the American flag and Afganistan flag.

Walt Schuster

Turned lamp made of post blocking with maple, walnut, ebony, oak, ipe and others. He made 4 of them for his granddaughters. Features a spiral base of the different woods.

Bill Jacobs

Cross made on the scroll saw for a Christmas present this year. He does the fretwork on the thicker piece and cuts it in half. Made of cherry.

John Loftis

Pictures of some adarandak chairs of cypress from Woods of Mission Timber made for his parents as a house warming gift.

Chris Hathaway

Turned goblet and small bowl made at the turning class from Woodcraft. Also a pen from the pen turning class made of walnut.

Steve Yauch

Pen turned of Leopard wood (aka pine cones). He cut the ends off, reinforced the ends with ca glue and turns them with a skew.

Fred Chapman

Fretwork cross made of basswood. Dark stain inside gives it a nice contrast. Had some problems with the finish on the sides, got some suggestions to use shellac.

Thad Burnett

Puzzle boxes from a pattern in a book, made of cedar on the bandsaw.

Winners of $10 prize – Thad Burnett & Walt Schuster
