Program

The May demo was given by Dan Chenault on Inlays.

Dan either uses a jewelers saw or an xacto knife to cut his pieces out of veneer that has been dyed all the way through. He uses a very fine layer of Titebond Cold Press glue on the pieces to prevent the pieces from sticking to the tape. When gluing down, don't forget to use wax paper or freezer/butcher paper (slick side facing your project) to prevent glue squeeze out from gluing your project to the items you use to apply pressure. Use a lot of pressure to make sure the whole thing is firmly in place.

Come up with a pattern
Decide what colors you need
Number your pieces
Cut them out
Fit everything
Tape it down
Roll out the glue
Put the entire piece in place
Put the wax paper on it
Clamp the piece down to dry
Let sit over night

For the June demo, Howard from Woodcraft will be bringing a Freud rep to do a router demo.
